

6. German-Russian Logistics Forum

April 16, 2019
Hotel Metropol Moscow

The 6th German-Russian Logistics Forum, co-organized by Chapter Russia of the BVL International on April 16 at the Hotel Metropol in Moscow, was a complete success. Parallel to the international transport and logistics trade fair "TransRussia", 250 high-professional participants used the great opportunity for personal exchange on shared experiences and perspectives in logistics, transport and traffic, informed themselves about current trends and innovations, received useful impulses from the organized Logistics Talks on the exciting topics „Logistics 4.0“, „Contract Logistics“, „New Silk Road“ and „Logistics of the Future“. Right at the beginning, an MOU was signed between CEO of Hamburg Port Marketing e.V., Mr. Ingo Egloff, and the Executive Director of the Russian "Digital Transport and Logistics Association", Mr. Anton Zamkov. Professional contributions made i.a. the CEOs of Metrans, Kuehne+Nagel Russia/CIS, Transcontainer, DB Cargo Russia and STS Logistics. On the subject of trimodality Mr. Vladimir Markin, Deputy Director of Moscow Canal. The CEO of LUNO Group, Mirco Nowak, moderated two of four Logistics Talks and presented BVL International and his Chapter Russia, which he has been heading since 2011. The evening reception for effective networking was opened by Minister Christian Pegel from the Ministry of Energy, Infrastructure and Digitalization of the state of Mecklenburg-Vorpommern and State Councilor Dr. Ing. Torsten Sevecke from the Ministry of Economic Affairs, Transport and Innovation of the Free and Hanseatic City of Hamburg.

The Global Supply Chain Network

The mission of nonprofit BVL International founded in 1978 is to act as a neutral platform to promote an awareness for the importance of logistics and supply chain management in industry, science and the public sphere, to systematically document logistical problem definitions, to develop methods and processes to solve these problems on an interdisciplinary and sector-focused basis and to promote and continuously optimise the application of the relevant solutions.

Today, BVL has more than 11,000 members - companies and individuals from the worlds of industry, commerce, services and science who are actively involved in the business of logistics and supply chain management.

BVL is a primarily honorary network of experts that sees its job as to support the exchange of knowledge ideas among members. The members and bodies of BVL possess the experience and expertise that enable them to identify new trends in the early stages - and then to develop and present tailored ideas and concepts to the key current and future players in industry, politics and science.

BVL offers lifelong learning in Economics and supply chain management: BVL Seminars and the German Foreign Trade and Logistics Academy (DAV) organise a wide range of modular seminars as well as courses and studies for every stage of the business career.
